TIPS FOR EFFECTIVE POSTCARD DESIGN

Over the years we have worked with hundreds of movers and have seen many designs tested and tired. Below are our tips on what should be included for a successful design.

ULTIMATE TEST

Does your postcard pass the two second test? Strip away words and only leave the image. Do you know who the postcard is from?

You have seconds to visually tell the homeowner that you are a mover. A picture of a your truck with logo or your truck with your crew is always the best image.

A STRONG VISUAL IS A MUST

Always include your logo, and design with a color scheme and visuals that represent your company.

ASK FOR THE ORDER!

Tell them what they need to do next.

EMPHASIZE YOUR CONTACT INFORMATION

Your website and phone number should appear on both sides

FRONT

MAKE AN OFFER THEY CAN'T RESIST

Offer something of extra value and stand out.

BACK

DEMONSTRATE CREDIBILITY

Include logos to boost your trustworthiness:

- Better Business Bureau
- Trade association
- License number

KEEP COPY TO A MINIMUM

When adding copy, keep your message clear, concise, and impactful.

FOLLOW USPS GUIDELINES

The bottom 3/4" of the postcard is used by the USPS for barcoding. Text in this area cause the mail to be returned.

We often suggest using a free estimate as an initial offer. Free estimates give homeowners an immediate value that isn't dependent on them making a purchase.
